

CONTENTS

Introduction	5
THEORY
1. The term of cultural heritage as a subject of scientific considerations	9
1.1. Heritage as a cultural palimpsest and its reading	11
1.2. Heritage as a transfer process	19
1.3. Cultural heritage – elite or common value?	21
1.4. Social co-creation of heritage value	29
1.5. Heritage – approach integration	37
PRACTICE
2. Reading the palimpsest – local cultural heritage in scientific research and their practical dimension	43
2.1. The Gliwice palimpsest – architectural heritage of the city viewed through the activity of architects	49
2.1.1. The essential scope of the project	50
2.1.2. Project structure and execution	55
2.2. Architecture of Upper Silesia in the second part of 20th century – the Upper Silesian palimpsest from an interdisciplinary perspective	61
2.2.1. The interdisciplinary research team and work methodology	62
2.2.2. Reflector "Architecture and urban planning" – individual work and final conclusions	67
2.3. Heritage of historical workers' housing estates in Upper Silesia in the example of the Zandka residential area in Zabrze – the palimpsest of place in interdisciplinary studies	71
2.3.1. Methodological approach and creation of the research team	74
2.3.2. Assumptions and research questions	75
2.3.3. Studies in the interdisciplinary team	78
2.3.4. Final conclusions and practical recommendations	83
3. Working together – architectural heritage as the subject of research and project workshop	85
3.1. Why workshops? – a methodological reflection	87
3.1.1. Assumptions and objectives	87
3.1.2. Workshop as a research and creative process – methodology, techniques, tools and work organisation	88
3.2. Heritage as the subject and the topic of student workshops – selected examples of activities	90
3.2.1. "Checkpoint Korbielów"	90
3.2.2. "Project Tyrów" – studies, project concept and revitalisation activities around the former Dominican church and abbey complex in Tyrów as a valuable architectural heritage of former Kresy Wschodnie (Eastern Borderland)	93
3.2.3. "Biskupice" – cooperation with the local community	109
3.2.4. Architecture on the road: A different look at the architectural city heritage – perception and education	117
4. Local heritage in the perspective of international collaboration	125
4.1. Lazio – Silesia Brownfields: Comparative Analysis and Creative Ideas	128
4.1.1. Project scope and objective	131
4.1.2. The work method	132
4.1.3. Summary of project achievements	137
4.2. Cooperation related to Master's Degree dissertations	140
4.2.1. GIS urban analysis for brownfield revitalization – comparison between Silesia and Southern Lazio	140
4.2.2. The revitalization of ul. Londzina – enhancing workers' estate as post-industrial historical heritage in Zabrze, Poland	143
4.3. San Pietro Infine – The Place and Memory – Il Luogo e la Memoria – miejsce i pamięć	146
4.3.1. Subject and scope of work	148
4.3.2. Project results and conclusion	150
4.4. Lazio – Tuscany – Silesia: Heritage Sites in Conservation Perspective (2018-2019)	152
4.4.1. Subject, scope of work	152
4.4.2. Project execution and conclusion	157
4.4.3. Project summary	158
4.5. "Heritage of Silesia" – Searching for a Common Language in Architecture' – International Summer School of Architecture (2019)	160
4.5.1. Subject, scope of work and project structure	160
4.5.2. Project results and conclusion	164
5. Summary	166
Bibliography	170
List of photos	177
Abstract	181